Souls in Full Bloom

BEAUTY DEPICTED IN ART

In the 1440s, Bl. Fra Angelico, O.P., painted the cells (bedrooms) of the Dominican Priory of San Marco. In each of these cells, he painted a large-sized scene from the life of Christ. These are remarkable works from a simply artistic viewpoint. On top of that, they are profound works from the spiritual side of things. One such fresco is the “Noli me tangere” (Do not touch me) from Easter day, in which the resurrected Christ tells St. Mary Magdalene not to hold on to Him because His mission wasn’t yet finished (see John 20:17).

In this painting, there is something incredibly striking that might be somewhat hidden, though. In the midst of the grass all around Christ and St. Mary Magdalene, there are scores of little flowers, which are grouped in threes (representing the Trinity) and fives (representing the wounds of Christ’s passion). Even more noteworthy, though, is how Fra Angelico painted them. Unlike other paintings where he paints flowers that look like proper flowers, here the flowers are simply splotches of terra rosa, or red paint, which are sometimes on white paint. And, what else in the painting is like that? The wounds on the living Christ. In other words, Fra Angelico painted the flowers in the same way that he painted the marks of Christ’s glorified wounds. Angelico was probably drawing from Aquinas who held “a certain kind of beauty will shine” in the scars on the body of the resurrected Christ (ST III, q. 54, a. 4, corp.). Thus, the flowers reveal this beauty by uniting the garden with the Divine Gardener.

What is Fra Angelico trying to do with this, though? On the one hand, these white and red flowers represent purity and the Precious Blood. On the other hand, they also seem to represent the water and blood that poured forth from Christ’s side to water the world with baptism (white) and the Eucharist (red). St. Albert the Great beautifully writes, “The Christ-flower [flos Christus] blossomed in the Nativity, as we read in Isaiah 11:1: ‘There shall come forth a rod out of the stem of Jesse.’ It withered in the Passion when there was no longer aspect or beauty...It blossomed again at the Resurrection according to human nature, in the very place where it had withered. Thus, it is said: ‘And my flesh blossomed anew’ (Psalm 27:7)” (De laudibus, 12.4.2). In other words, Fra Angelico depicted the truth that Christ has watered all creation in His Passion, which has led to a new garden coming to bloom. This new garden, though, will image Him. The life of the flowers springing up will look like His own glorified life.

*“Noli Me Tangere,” Bl. Fra Angelico, O.P., 1440-1442,
Cell 1 in Convento di San Marco, Florence*

BEAUTY DEPICTED IN HUMAN LIVING

Throughout the Lenten season, we have been reflecting on putting off the old man of sin and putting on the new man of virtue (see Ephesians 4:22-24). By turning away from sins such as unforgiveness, lies, lust, cowardice, impatience, and greed we have the chance to grow in their counter virtues, those virtues that will truly help us to live in imitation of Christ. And, what does this look like? If Christ is to water our souls with the water and blood that poured forth from His side, what sort of garden will spring up in our souls? One filled with the hyacinths of forgiveness, the chrysanthemums of truthfulness, the lilies of purity, the gladiolas of courage, the asters of patience, the sunflowers of selflessness, and, ultimately, the daffodils of new life. It will look like the virtues that radiated throughout the life of Christ and can become in us a garden filled with His virtues and power. When we imitate Christ, it is then that we can become a “fragrant offering” to God (Ephesians 5:2).

So, let us celebrate this Easter season by living in the virtues that we’ve been seeking to cultivate for the last seven weeks. Let us live with Christ’s Paschal Mystery as the source of our transformed and transfigured life so that we might be the “aroma of Christ” that draws others to God (2 Corinthians 2:15).

Happy Easter! He is risen! May we be risen to new life with Him and become like those flowers in full bloom!

With the risen Christ,
Fr. Peter Martyr Yungwirth, O.P.

MUSIC NOTES

From Palm Sunday through Easter Sunday, the Parish offered 8 services with the Schola Cantorum, recognized as one of the finest Catholic choirs in the country. The ensemble sang 5 settings of the Mass Ordinary, 19 motets, 2 Passions, 1 Magnificat, and 1 Nunc dimittis, much of it new to our library! And this does not even consider the approximately 50 pieces of chant for which the group was responsible. For every Mass, the only rehearsal the Schola has is for 75 minutes immediately beforehand.

Please consult the Music List on the tables in the narthex and online for a complete list of repertoire for Eastertide and upcoming feasts and consider making an Easter contribution to our St. Cecilia Guild, the group of patrons who financially support the music program. Email James Wetzel, the Director of Music, with any questions: jwetzel@svsc.info.

Confessions will also be heard from 3:15–6 PM. Adoration at St. Catherine of Siena from 3–5 PM will be offered as usual.

EASTER DUTY

"Easter duty" is the obligation of Catholics to receive Holy Communion during Eastertide. It is one of the Precepts of the Church, the others being attendance at Mass on Sundays and Holy Days of Obligation; confession of serious sin at least once a year; observance of the days of fast and abstinence; and providing for the needs of the Church.

MASSES OF EASTER WEEK

The Octave of Easter, also known as Easter Week, is the eight-day period of celebration that runs from Easter Sunday through Low Sunday and marks the beginning of Eastertide. There will be a Sung Mass at 6 PM at St. Vincent Ferrer Monday–Friday (April 21–25).

In the Christian tradition, the number eight is a symbol of fulfillment and transition, breaking through the seven-day rhythm of life to a new way of being. (That is why, for example, many baptismal fonts have eight sides.) The greatest feasts of the liturgical calendar (Christmas and Easter, and previously Epiphany, Ascension, Pentecost, Corpus Christi, and Sacred Heart as well) are given an "Octave." In this way, the Church prolongs the joyful festivities of the solemnity itself.

Because Easter Sunday is the highest ranking of all days of the liturgical year, Easter not only gets an Octave, but an entire season, known as Eastertide, which encompasses the Ascension and lasts 50 days until Pentecost. The Pascal Candle, blessed at the Easter Vigil, is kept burning in the sanctuary throughout Eastertide.

PARISH NOVENA OF PATRONAGE

Tuesday, April 29 is the Solemnity of St. Catherine of Siena. We will celebrate a Solemn Mass and Procession at 5:15 PM at St. Catherine of Siena.

Tuesday, May 6 is the observed Anniversary of Dedication of the Church of St. Vincent Ferrer. There will be a Solemn Dominican Rite Mass at 7 PM at St. Vincent Ferrer. A solemn Te Deum will be sung at the conclusion of the Mass.

In the intervening days, the Parish will celebrate a Patronal Novena of Prayer. Relics of our Patrons will be placed in the sepulcher niche at St. Vincent Ferrer. Friars of the Dominican Order have been ministering to this neighborhood since the Parish's founding in 1867. The current Parish was established after an archdiocesan merger process in 2015.
