Pressure and Courage

RISING ABOVE PRESSURE

Sometimes on the Third Sunday of Lent, we hear the Gospel of the woman at the well. Even though we likely won't hear it this year, I think that there's something profound to draw out of it (pun intended).

When the woman went to the well, she didn't expect what was about to happen. She went there in the middle of the day, the hottest time of the day because no one else was going to be there. She could go in relative peace and quiet, even if she had to sweat it out. Why did she go in the middle of the day? Christ tells her, "You have had five husbands, and the one you have now is not your husband." She has been ostracized by the community. Granted, the response of the others was because of her sinful way of life. Regardless of the reason, she felt a cultural pressure to distance herself from the distaste that would come from the other women's revilements and scorn. For whatever reason, her heart was bound.

Enter Christ. When He comes, everything changes. He meets her in the midst of her sinful life and the shame that swirls all around her. Rather than scorn her with verbal barbs, He embraces her with words of peace. With Him, there is no pressure. Instead, there is the freedom to choose: her current way of life where she is isolated, or a new way of life where she can be free. And, what is her choice? A new man, the Perfect Man. He is the one who finally completes her heart. Just like the Israelites rested on the seventh day, she finds rest in the seventh Man.

From a transformed heart, courage flowed. She went back to the very people who had created the pressure all around her and exacerbated the pressure within her, and she proclaimed to them, "Come see a man who told me everything I have done. Could he possibly be the Christ?" It is clear, she was no longer bound by shame or cultural pressure. She was free.

OUR COURAGE

How about us? Where do we feel pressure? Is it from something sinful in the past that we did? Is it something that we're struggling with right now? Is it from peer pressure or social pressure?

Whatever the cause, the Lord is inviting us to be courageous. This doesn't mean that we can be impetuous, rash, or imprudent. Rather, it's about seeing the daunting task that is good but hard to attain and not being bound by shame or fear. Courage is about rising above the pressures that are keeping us from the path of healing, receiving the soothing balm of grace from our loving Lord, and rejoicing in His grace and peace.

"Christ and the Woman of Samaria at the Well," Guercino, 1640-1641, Museo Nacional Thyssen-Bornemisza, Madrid

In a particular way, if there's a social pressure to do something that will get in the way of us growing in this or that virtue, we should pray for courage. Even more so, if there's pressure to do something sinful, we should pray for courage. In these cases, it can be helpful to examine those relationships and our social circles. On the one hand, are they getting in the way or leading us to cave to the pressure and commit sins? On the other hand, are they helpful for us in growing closer to God? If the relationships aren't helpful, and especially if they are leading us to sin, it is so important to pray for courage to make a change and put out into the deep (cf. Luke 5:4). Change is possible, and we don't need to be bound by social circles or friendships that drag us down into deep waters. Courage can help us break free, free to rise above the waters and sometimes to even walk on the waters (cf. Matthew 14:22-33).

We truly can set out on a new path in life. Like the woman at the well, we can be set free. The Lord wants to offer us companions with whom we can follow Christ together. It's just a matter of going to the Divine Well, to the only One who can truly quench our thirst so that we "will never thirst" again (John 4:14).

With Christ at the well,
Fr. Peter Martyr Yungwirth, O.P.

MUSIC NOTES

There is scant information about Franco-Flemish composer and priest Thomas Crecquillon's early life. He certainly was a member of the chapel of Emperor Charles V and later seems to have moved throughout the Low Countries. His considerable output consists of 12 extant Masses, over 100 motets, and approximately 200 chansons. Although a relatively obscure name today, he published extensively, indicating an influential reputation among his contemporaries.

THE CONFRATERNITY OF THE MOST HOLY ROSARY

The Rosary Confraternity is a spiritual association of the Catholic Church, the members of which strive to pray the entire Rosary during the course of one week (15 decades). The members also commit to praying for the intentions of all the other members, thus forming a vast army of prayer warriors. Pope Leo XIII said "whenever a person fulfills his obligation of reciting the Rosary according to the rule of the Confraternity, he includes in his intentions all its members, and they in turn render him the same service many times over" (Ubi Primum 1898, 1).

WEEK OF MARCH 24

Organ Tuning

The pipe organ in St. Vincent Ferrer was built by the Schantz Organ Company of Orrville, Ohio in two phases: the chancel organ (Opus 2145) in 1998 and the much larger gallery organ (Opus 2224) in 2002.

The organ has approximately 4,775 pipes, ranging in size from a pencil to 32 feet in length. Most are made of a lead-tin alloy, but some are made of wood. With a replacement value of several million dollars, the organ is one of the Parish's most valuable assets; it receives regular maintenance and tuning by one of the top pipe organ technicians in the city. This week, the organ will be completely re-tuned; something that has not been done in at least 15 years. This will also be an opportunity to survey the instrument to anticipate long-term needs. Please note there will be almost constant noise in the church between Masses this week.

For more information about our organ, visit: tinyurl.com/OrganSVF

SATURDAY, APRIL 5, 9:30 AM

Feast of St. Vincent Ferrer, O.P.

For the traditional Feast of St. Vincent Ferrer, O.P., Patron of the Parish, we will have a Sung Dominican Rite Mass at 9:30 AM at St. Vincent Ferrer for which the Schola Cantorum will sing Missa Te Deum laudamus by Giovanni Pierluigi da Palestrina.
