Lies and Truthfulness

TWISTING TRUTH

The devil isn't that creative. As the prince of liars, he knows how to convince his hearers. People generally don't buy straight-up deceit. Yet, if there's a very clear element of truth mixed in with something deceitful, then people might be distracted or confused by the truthful element and buy the whole thing. For instance, God did say, "You are free to eat from any of the trees of the garden except the tree of knowledge of good and evil. From that tree you shall not eat; when you eat from it you shall die" (Genesis 2:16-17). The devil knows that, so when he tempts Eve, he twists the truth. God didn't say that Adam and Eve would die instantly upon eating the fruit, just that they would die. The devil pulls this string in an attempt to unravel the ball, and Eve falls prey to it. She hears the devil's words and believes that God might be wrong about death. So, she bites the apple, and the rest is history.

Thousands of years later, the devil tries this same tactic with Jesus. "I shall give to you all this power and glory; for it has been handed over to me, and I may give it to whomever I wish. All this will be yours, if you worship me" (Luke 4:6-7). Here, the devil tries to argue from the perspective that he is the ruler of the world. If he were, then he would be able to hand over power and glory to whomever he wished. Yet, he's not the true ruler of the world. God is. Jesus sees through this lie and responds with the actual truth, "You shall worship the Lord, your God, and him alone shall you serve" (Luke 4:8). In each of the three temptations in the desert, Jesus sees through the lies and calls out the devil for trying to twist the truth.

EMBRACING TRUTH

We can draw two things from this comparison of the temptations of Eve and Jesus. The first concerns the recognition of the truth when the devil tries to lie to us. In Milton's Paradise Lost, the snake is punished by having his tongue forked because that's how he tricked Eve. His forked language, with its mix of truth and error, led her astray. Thousands of years after Jesus, the devil continues to use the same strategy. He whispers those words that twist truth and deceit together, hoping that we too will bite the fruit. Yet, he is a liar, and he will always be so. Every temptation that we encounter has deceit written all over it. On the one hand, there are things like, "If you buy this thing, you'll be happy." "If you do this, you won't be lonely anymore." On the other hand, there are the other lies, "You'll never break free from that sin." "You're worthless!" Those subtle half-truths mixed in with full-on deceit reveal the evil one's true colors, and we need to call him out for those lies. "No! I won't find true happiness in those worldly goods. I won't actually be satisfied if I cut another person down. I won't find complete companionship in the fleeting moments of passion. I am beloved by God." It is so important to see through the temptations and to see God waiting with His arms wide open. He is the one who will truly provide perfect happiness, deep meaning, and true companionship.

"True Tree of Life," detail from the tabernacle, St. Vincent Ferrer Church, New York City

The second thing that we can draw from this concerns our use of truth. There are so many times when we take up the devil's tactics. "It's just a white lie." "No one will ever really be able to figure it out." "It's not really a big deal." And, we too twist the truth. Even in these little moments, in those little nibbles of the forbidden fruit, we end up cultivating the same end that Adam and Eve found by separating ourselves from God. It is so important to make sure that we are bearers of the whole truth. This takes humility, honesty, and integrity. Yet, when we can live in this way and when we can embrace the truth, we will live in the freedom of the Gospel and the love of God.

With Christ in the desert,
Fr. Peter Martyr Yungwirth, O.P.

MUSIC NOTES

The texts of the Minor Propers (Entrance, Offertory, and Communion Antiphons, as well as the Psalm and Alleluia/Tract) are usually excerpts from the Psalter. Those for the First Sunday of Lent are unique because they are all taken from the same psalm: Psalm 90 (91). Lent I is also unusual because the Offertory and Communion Antiphons set the exact same text, although the chant melodies are different. Occasionally, as is the case for Lent I, the Offertory Antiphon will be sung to a polyphonic setting rather than the chant.

Upcoming Events

SUZANNE HAMMILL
Business Manager

I am excited about joining the St. Vincent Ferrer and St. Catherine of Siena Parish community serving as the new Business Manager. As a cradle Catholic my faith has always been paramount in my life, and it is an honor to share my talents with this thriving parish in the Church and city I love. I am a native New Yorker and have lived in Manhattan for more than twenty-five years with a few international breaks living, working, and volunteering in Hong Kong, South Africa, and Medjugorje in Bosnia and Herzegovina for several years. I have been fortunate to combine my passion for contributing to the Church with my MBA and business skills honed while working in the private sector for multinational corporations for twenty years. After earning an MA in Theology I made the transition into service and worked for the Archdiocese of New York helping to build the Kingdom of God both in the Family Life Office and most recently as a Business Manager at two ADNY parishes. I feel truly blessed to now join the Parish team to continue ensuring good stewardship and sustainability for our Parish as we foster a foundation of prayer, study, and Christian community in our Parish. I look forward to meeting all of you, the People of God.

The Academy of Sacred Drama will present Noble Soul, their production of Tosi's 1701 oratorio Il martirio di S Caterina (The Martyrdom of St. Catherine) at St. Vincent Ferrer. Catherine of Alexandria, a brilliant and devout Christian, confronts the ruthless King Maxentius. Refusing to renounce her faith, Catherine denounces Maxentius' cruelty to Christians, converts members of the royal court, and earns a martyr's fate.

A cast of five singers is headed by mezzo-soprano Kim Leeds in the title role and is accompanied by an ensemble of Baroque-style instruments including harpsichord and theorbo. The Academy's production is the Western Hemisphere premiere.
