A Communal Lent

COMMUNAL PENANCES

While in college, I was part of a missionary group. Some of the people had a pretty deep prayer life, others were quite intellectually savvy, and some had quite unique approaches to penance. I can remember one year in particular when we were outside of DC at the end of our summer missionary journeys. It was the feast of St. John Vianney, who was known for his incredible mortifications, lack of sleep, and paucity diet. One of the missionaries asked if it would be appropriate to eat pebbles as a communal penance for the feast day. Naturally, I thought he was joking. Well ... all these years, I've hoped that he was just joking.

While eating rocks isn't a good thing for any person, the importance of communal penances is something that we might overlook. It's at the heart of everything from the fast and abstinence of Ash Wednesday, to the Paschal Fast of Good Friday and Holy Saturday, to the rule of abstinence from meat on Fridays that the Church observed for so many centuries. Communal penance isn't about making everyone uncomfortable nor even so much about distancing us from others who don't participate. Rather, it's about uniting everyone together on the communal journey to heaven. For when we embrace these sorts of struggles together, it makes it easier to support, encourage, and strengthen one another on the path that we're all walking together.

COMMUNAL INTENTION

We are about to enter into the Lenten season together in just a few days. As I spent much of the fall speaking about the importance of growing in our communal life with one another and with the Lord and offering ourselves back to Him in gratitude for all that He's given us, I want to encourage us, as a Parish, to embark on the Lenten journey together. Don't worry, I'm not recommending a stony diet. Rather, I want to propose that we all share a common intention.

What does it mean to have intentions for Lent? What we normally do for Lent should be about both turning away from sin and turning toward God. The fasts, abstinences, almsgiving, and prayers are all meant to lead to a life of holiness. One thing that can be such an aid to this is to have an intention behind what we do. For instance, if our Lenten practice is to pray the Rosary every day, having someone to offer it for—say an aunt who is sick with cancer—can make it much easier to persevere through and also more spiritually fruitful. An intention-filled Lent can lead to a grace-filled Lent for us and for those for whom we pray.

With all this in mind, I'd like to invite the Parish to have our RCIA class as a common intention. We have over 30 people preparing to be baptized, to become Catholic, or to complete their sacraments of initiation. Most of these will receive their sacraments at the Easter Vigil, and some will receive them at the Pentecost Vigil. All of them, though, could benefit from our prayers.

I'm not necessarily asking that you have them as your only intention. It is good to ask the Lord for the virtues you might need to break free from sins that you're struggling with as well as to pray for the close friend or family member who might be preparing for death and so forth. Yet, none of those intentions would preclude also praying for those in RCIA so that they will be as open as possible to receive the graces of the Lord. As the community in which they are about to be received, we, as their brothers and sisters in Christ, can welcome them with great love and support. He desires to bless them, and this is one such way to help bring that about.

May our Lenten season be filled with many graces, especially for those in RCIA. May our individual practices with this communal intention bear great fruit for the salvation of souls.

In Christ,
Fr. Peter Martyr Yungwirth, O.P.

MUSIC NOTES*For This Sunday

O sacrum convivium á 6

– Francisco Guerrero (1528-1599)

Ave Regina á 8

– Juan Gutiérrez de Padilla (c. 1590-1664)

For Sunday, February 18, 12 Noon

The penitential season of Lent (from the Old English meaning "spring" and also known as Quadragesima in Latin, meaning "fortieth") begins on Ash Wednesday. In Lent, violet vestments are worn. The Gloria is omitted except on feasts and the Alleluia is replaced with the Tract. According to the General Instructions of the Roman Missal, the document governing the celebration of the Novus Ordo Mass, the organ is to be used only "to give necessary support to the singing," so organ voluntaries are omitted except on Laetare Sunday and feasts. As always in privileged seasons (Advent, Christmastide, Lent, Eastertide), the Schola will sing a polyphonic setting of the Mass Ordinary at the Solemn Mass.

At the Solemn Mass for Lent I, the Litany of Saints is chanted in a penitential procession. The choral Ordinary is based on a Matins Responsory for Lent I (The gates of heaven opened for us).

Missa Paradisi portas

– Manuel Cardoso (1566-1650)

Angelis suis mandavit

– Manuel Cardoso (1566-1650)

Ductus est Jesus – Si filius Dei es á 4
